NY MCLE Credits

Who are we?

New York State Bar Association and the International Section

The New York State Bar Association (NYSBA) is the largest voluntary state bar organization in the United States and has members across the globe that have a nexus to New York law.

The International Section is one of NYSBA's most active sections having over 1,500 members internationally with chapters in more than 70 countries worldwide and is NYSBA's global representative and international advocate for the rule of law.

In addition, the NYSBA International Section brings members together to discuss and influence the resolution of key legal practice issues before local, state, national and international policy makers. Members include legal professionals from major international law firms, multi-national corporations, and other organizations that influence, and are influenced by, international law.

What is the Global Conference?

Each year, NYSBA's International Section hosts a conference in a different city outside of the United States to provide American and foreign colleagues the opportunity to meet, network, and expand their international practices. Our most recent conferences have been held in New York City, Tokyo, Montréal, Antigua, Guatemala, Paris, São Paulo, Vienna, Hanoi, Lisbon, Panama, Sydney and the list goes on!

This year, the conference will consist of three days of Continuing Legal Education (CLE) panels and plenaries, including, various hot topics in international law. The meeting also offers networking opportunities in the form of extended breaks, luncheons, receptions, dinners, including our traditional gala dinner, and social and cultural events.

PANEL 10 | Los Morales Room

Digital Assets (a.k.a. What the F*T*X?)

In 2022, we saw a number of high-profile collapses in the industry (FTX, Voyager, Three Arrows, Terra, Genesis). Regulators already had crypto assets firmly in their sights and these high-profile collapses have only heightened the call for more government intervention. The consensus appears to be to regulate rather than eliminate, but the various regulatory approaches are distinct. In early 2023, US regulators significantly ramped up enforcement activities to new levels, adopting an explicit "regulation by enforcement approach" against the biggest players in the market. Enforcement action in some other jurisdictions, by contrast, have been relatively modest perhaps to attract digital assets, which remain perhaps surprisingly resilient and attractive to investors, into existing financial services regime. These differences in approach perhaps highlight the challenges of an industry that the markets are in many ways still struggling to understand but that shows few signs of disappearing.

Technology, Cybersecurity and Ethics: Lawyers Under Attack

Lawyers and law firms are regular targets of cybercriminals and hold client and employee data they are required to keep confidential and private. Risk management needs to change rapidly to deal with new threats and developing multinational cybersecurity and data privacy regulation. Methods for meeting ethical and compliance obligations must change with them as well. What do lawyers need to know about these issues and how to deal with them? The panel will discuss such matters as:

- What cybersecurity concerns affect providing services to clients?
- What are the ethical obligations that must be met in addressing these issues?
- What are the risks to lawyers for failing to understand the technology they use?
- Why isn't this just an IT issue?

What are the potential costs to your firm and your clients of failing to take adequate security measures? How can you mitigate them?

The New M&A Reality: A Market Check

We are living in a new world. Supply chains, geopolitical conditions, trade and national security issues, new demographic realities and impact of technology and artificial intelligence, among other things all impact M&A transactions. Our panel will consider from a holistic perspective this new reality and the legal and economic trends that result from the new normal. Compliance issues are constantly evolving and need to be considered in the workflow. Parties now, more than ever, must consider how to conduct due diligence, negotiate deal documents, including risk-shifting provisions, and prepare for integration in this new reality. Our panel will share perspectives from the standpoints of the business team, in-house counsel, outside counsel, investment bankers, and other participants in complex transactions, while considering the complexity parties must consider when considering, negotiating, and closing deals.

Panel discussion that explores the rapidly evolving landscape of Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) trends in Latin American funds. With a focus on the interplay between existing regulations and the growing demand from investors, this panel will delve into the legal aspects of ESG considerations and the impact on transnational companies.

Our panel of experts, including representatives from leading funds, will shed light on the emerging ESG policies, practices, and reporting

Track 2 – Environmental Disputes

PANEL 20 | Campos Eliseos Room 1

The Multiple Dimensions of Environmental Disputes and its Effective Resolution

A single environmental incident can give rise to different types of intertwined claims and issues that need to be resolved through strategically coordinated efforts to effectively resolve the corresponding dispute. Simultaneous administrative and constitutional law litigation, class actions, and criminal law proceedings, running in parallel with communications campaigns, community engagement plans, and different sorts of interested parties, are frequent scenarios. Our panelists will discuss their experience in handling the response to environmental incidents, share war stories, and discuss

Track 3 – Diversity & Inclusion

PANEL 21 | Campos Eliseos Room 2

When and Why Diversity Improves your Board’s Performance

The panel will discuss what board diversity means and how it contributes to its performance. Is it just a social trend or does a diverse boardroom can have a positive impact on a company? Our panelists will give their point of view of the importance of including a significant number of people who come from various professional backgrounds and belong to different races and ethnicities. They will also discuss the implications of the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) approved Nasdaq’s Board Diversity Rule, that require listed companies to have at least two diverse board members.

Energy Transition: Present or Future?

Balancing Acts: Navigating ESG Considerations in International Arbitration

ESG Trends in M&A Transactions Around the World

Our panel will present a comparative view of legal and business trends facing the energy sector as it transitions to a more sustainable future. Topics to be addressed include the Conversion of traditional international oil companies into energy companies, decisions taken at the 2023 United Nations Climate Change Conference ("COP 28"), the future roles of hydrogen, carbon capture and storage, and nuclear power in a future net-zero energy mix, risks and opportunities in financing the energy transition, competition over the supply of energetics and critical minerals and

Companies and particularly MNEs are under growing commercial and regulatory pressure to uphold ESG (Environmental, Social, and Governance) principles in their operations and comply with disclosure obligations that may vary across jurisdictions. Managing ESG-related risks requires the meticulous implementation of appropriate internal policies, adequate contractual provisions across their supply chains, and proper due diligence in their foreign direct investment strategies and decision-making processes. Assessing companies' compliance with these obligations is giving rise to an increasing number of novel disputes both in commercial and investment arbitration. The inclusion of ESG-related provisions in commercial contracts and in investment treaties requires to analyze the suitability of arbitration to resolve ESG disputes, the challenges faced, and how ESG matters are reshaping paradigms in international arbitration.

While addressing the relevant ESG matters in an M&A transaction, we will present a Case (hypothetical) in which a UK entity is buying a target with subsidiaries in USA, Portugal, México, Argentina, and Central America.

Our panel will address the relevant issues to consider in the different phases of a transaction (from the LOI, to the Due Diligence and discuss important R&W's to be included in a SPA) and how to prevent a transaction from converting into a complete nightmare while dealing with ESG matters.

During this panel discussion, international arbitration practitioners and leaders will discuss practical examples of the types of ESG disputes in both commercial and investment treaty claims. They will share their views on the suitability of international arbitration to apprehend these complex disputes that will often involve issues of public concern with stakeholders demanding transparency and broader involvement in a fundamentally consent-based resolution process. They will discuss the impact that ESG matters are having on the role of arbitration stakeholders: arbitrators, parties, arbitral institutions, and third-party funders, and how international arbitration can be a driving force for more sustainable and responsible dispute resolution practices.

including the matter of significant costs, will be the subject of an interactive and practical discussion.

Additionally, reference will be made to the success and cost-efficient use of pre-packed processes by LATAM based companies, as well as the generalized failure of involuntary petitions filed in the US. As one size does not fit all, the panel will contrast the tools and alternatives available in the principal LATAM jurisdictions, such as concurso mercantil- and perhaps in the UK and the EU, and other more unorthodox substitutes, such as recent corporate liquidations. Other points which will be considered will include: (i) the thorny issue of recognitions of foreign proceedings; (ii) how bankruptcy remote vehicles failed in recent cases and why; (iii) third party releases, especially guarantors; and (iv) the growing clashes among lenders of the same class, especially in DIP financing situations (who gets the better deal?).
